

A Special Invitation from Roots of Empathy

We hope you will be able to join Roots of Empathy Founder Mary Gordon and Dr. Stuart Shanker for a free presentation discussing the role of social and emotional learning in today's classrooms and our common future.

Self regulation is gaining recognition as an important element of learning, and fundamental to children's academic and life success. Hear about the latest research in this area and the implications for schoolyard aggression and bullying. The public is invited to attend.

Mary Gordon and Stuart Shanker:
Science, Self-Regulation and Citizenry
Tuesday, November 29 at 7 p.m.

Town Hall Seattle
1119 8th Avenue
Seattle, WA 98101

FREE

Register at www.brownpapertickets.com/event/207135

Mary Gordon is Founder/President of Roots of Empathy, an organization that harnesses the power the parent-infant attachment relationship to build empathy in elementary school children. To date, the Roots of Empathy program has reached over 450,000 children on three continents. For more information, please visit www.rootsofempathy.org

Dr. Stuart Shanker is Distinguished Research Professor of Philosophy and Psychology at York University, Toronto, Canada. He has received numerous grants, awards and fellowships, most recently $7M from Harris Steel Foundation establish the Milton and Ethel Harris Research Initiative, a state-of-the-art cognitive and social neuroscience center, of which he is the Director. For more information, please visit www.mehri.ca

